

KEYNOTE SPEAKER TESTIMONIALS

TRINITY COLLEGE, DUBLIN

“David brings a sense of humour and valuable stories to help share his innovation and product design expertise along with his own life experiences to make a point with his audience. He makes listening and learning easy, as well as practical. Most importantly, his message always contains practical and usable tools that can help any professional take their ideas to the next level, and beyond. I cannot recommend David highly enough. He is an engaging and insightful speaker that would resonate with any audience.”

“Without hesitation, David Gluckman’s talk at Trinity College was one of the calendar highlights of the year. Informative, witty and engaging! David gave an incredible depth of insight into client relations, responding to a brief, managing the design process from brief through ideation, prototyping and eventually from testing to launch.

The audience were delighted with the opportunity to question the maestro. His responses were generous and as detailed as his talk. David’s experience and industry knowledge provides an incredible wealth of knowledge in the product design space, and are matched only by his capacity to enthral his audience.”
